Senator Morse Says Maybe School Owes Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—Missouri senators sought today to work out a compromise to get the Stella, Mo., school district off Uncle Sam's financial hook.

They had to reckon with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) who insists that maybe Stella should pay the government something for using an old barracks at Ft. Crowder, Mo., as a school after its school building burned.

Curtis Hits Handling Of Union Inquiry

'Hands Off' Policy Stalls Probe Of Possible Violation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) today criticized the Justice Department's handling of an inquiry into the failure of St. Louis Teamsters Local 688 to file reports of political contributions.

Curtis said the department's "hands off" policy has stalled a federal investigation into possible violations by the local.

U.S. Attorney William H. Webster, after conferring with Justice Department officials in Washington, said his office is precluded by policy from determining whether the federal Corrupt Practices Act has been violated. Webster said inquiries into political funds reports are not initiated unless the clerk of the House of Representatives or the secretary of the Senate makes a specific request. Such reports are filed with these two congressional offices.

Federal law requires that political action groups raising funds for congressional or presidential candidates in two or more states file reports of fund contributions. Willful violation of the law is a felony and punishable by a $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

Curtis declared that it is the Justice Department's duty to investigate information which leads the department to believe a violation might have occurred. He said "these reports should be a matter of public record."

Missouri Has March Weather In April

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Missouri is having its March weather in April this spring. Today was a typical March day—skies clear to partly cloudy, alternately warm and cool, and wind gusts.

The only thing April about it are the scattered thundershowers and rising humidity forecast for the south and east central portions. It will be cool in the northwest to night, forecasters say, and warm in the south, with cooler temperatures spreading over the state Tuesday.

Winds today were out of the south from 15 to 25 miles per hour with gusts up to 42. Joplin had the state's high Sunday, a 71-degree reading.

ROAD-E-O WINNERS—These three Sedalia teenagers were the top three drivers in the 1960 Teenage Road-e-o sponsored by the Sedalia Jaycees Sunday at the State Fairgrounds. They are, left to right: Larry Hendricks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hendricks, 1614 20th, first place; Sue Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Rader, Route 4, second place; and John Hausam, son of Mrs. Mary Ella Hausam, 1615 West Ninth, third place. There were 17 contestants—nine boys and eight girls. Larry's performance makes him eligible for the state contest, which will also be held at the Fairgrounds on May 1. He will be presented a plaque and Sue and John will be given keys at the April 28 dinner meeting of the Jaycees. Certificates of participation will go to all of Sunday's entrants.

Not Likely to Miss Chance

Stevenson Will 'Come Out Of Bushes' Tuesday Morn

By Robert E. Hennessey
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—This Tuesday, at 9 o'clock in the morning, Adlai Stevenson is going to "come out of the bushes."

At that unlikely hour, the twice-defeated presidential nominee will "address the nation" from the University of Virginia. He will have a nationwide (ABC) radio and television hookup.

This setting has its drama, the occasion being Founder's Day at the University of Virginia—a day to duly note the birth of our third President, Thomas Jefferson.

The man from Libertyville, Illinois—who is just back from a long, studious tour of South America—will be making his first nationwide speech in many, many months.

He will speak from the Memorial Gymnasium, the same spot where five years ago he called upon the United Nations to send troops to patrol the Arab-Israeli borders. That was several months before the Suez crisis threatened a world war.

On the eve of his address, Stevenson will dine in candlelight at Thomas Jefferson's diningroom table at Monticello and have the first authentic Jefferson menu served in this century at that Virginia manor. It will be a stag dinner with members of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation. The table was given to Jefferson by George Wythe of Williamsburg.

Stevenson very much wants a third Democratic nomination for President and he is not apt to waste such an occasion—and such a big audience—as this will be.

Extra workers were rushed into the threatened area north of St. Peters Sunday, where about 200 acres and several farm buildings were in danger.

A levee at Perdue gave way Saturday, flooding 1,500 acres in the same general area of St. Charles County.

The Mississippi was stationary at 33.7 feet at St. Louis today, a few inches under its high level, and was expected to recede slowly.

"We're very fortunate we haven't had any more damage," said Morton Meyer, president of the St. Louis Flood Control Assn. The Red Cross closed its shelter in Hannibal today, and flood waters had receded from the business area of that river city. Basements of about 50 business buildings on Main Street, near the riverfront, had been flooded.

The river had fallen to 19.2 feet at Hannibal, more than four feet below its peak flood stage there last week. Several roads in the area were re-opened.

The Mississippi crested at 33.77 feet in St. Louis Sunday afternoon.

At Alton, Ill., the crest was 29.4 feet. The river is expected to remain at that height through Monday, then start dropping.

At Cape Girardeau, 125 miles down the river from St. Louis, the river stage Sunday was 38 feet, six feet above flood stage. A crest at Cape of 38.5 feet is expected Tuesday.

Charlie Brown Files For Renomination As Demo Congressman

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Rep. Charles H. (Charlie) Brown, 39, of Springfield filed today for Democratic renomination in the 7th Congressional District of southwestern Missouri.

Brown is campaign manager for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) in his bid for the presidential nomination.

Brown was first elected in 1956 when he defeated veteran Republican Rep. Dewey Short of Galena in one of the biggest Missouri political upsets in years. Two years ago he won re-election over state Sen. Noel Cox of Spokane.

Brown is the only Democrat in the race so far. Two Republicans have filed—Dr. Durward G. Hall, a Springfield civic leader, and former state Rep. Charles J. Fain, Branson lawyer.

Minister of Lands Assumes South Africa's Leadership

He Pledges To Continue Segregation

Sauer Takes Over, Replaces Wounded Prime Minister

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Paul Oliver Sauer, chief of the Nationalist Party in Parliament, took over today as government leader in place of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd. Sauer promptly pledged to carry on Verwoerd's apartheid policies.

Sauer, 62, is Minister of Lands in the Cabinet. He takes over the helm as senior member of the Cabinet, but will not serve as acting prime minister, Foreign Minister Eric Louw said. But Sauer will preside at Cabinet meetings.

Sauer told Parliament the government will continue on its regular program and Verwoerd's course, adding "the rest of the Cabinet will see that peace and order are maintained."

"As far as Parliament is concerned there will not be any deviations from the existing program as a result of what has happened," Sauer declared.

Even as Sauer spoke South Africa's white police and courts continued to take sharp action to quell racial strife and continuing Negro work boycotts against white supremacy laws.

Verwoerd continued to show progress in a Pretoria hospital from two head wounds inflicted Saturday by a wealthy white farmer. An antigovernment newspaper suggested he may have been injured more severely than his doctors admit.

The Rand Daily Mail said the two bullets "may have caused damage which could impair his speech, his sense of balance, his hearing and possibly his mental state for some time."

A medical bulletin said Verwoerd is still weak but making progress, adding: "Reassurance can be given that there is no sign of paralysis and, according to the progress made so far, paralysis is not expected."

Verwoerd's assailant, David Pratt, 52, had not appeared for arraignment in Johannesburg Magistrate's Court by late afternoon. Legal authorities were reported to be debating what charges should be brought.

Teams of detectives revisited the scene of the shooting—Johannesburg's Union Exposition Trade and Agriculture Fair.

Authorities in the midst of the crisis pressed their crackdown on Negro resistance to South Africa's segregation policy.

A large force of armed police, supported by armored cars, staged big door-to-door raids on a sprawling Negro settlement five miles outside Johannesburg.

SEES HUSBAND SHOT—South Africa's prime minister, Hendrik Verwoerd (partially visible, hands to head), falls into the arms of his wife (right center) after being shot in an attempted assassination at Johannesburg. Verwoerd was speaking at the time. The 58-year-old chief of the nationalist white-supremacy government, hit twice in the head by bullets fired from the gun of a white man, was reported out of danger. ## No Spring for Douglas

Time Has Stopped for Boy Who Never Reached Home

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—Spring has come to everything and everyone in the small waterfront town of Squamish near here except one small boy for whom time stopped Sept. 23.

There was no Halloween with its trick or treat, no Thanksgiving, no Christmas. And there is no spring for eight-year-old Douglas Church.

Seven months ago, the youngest of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Church pedaled in the dusk for home on his bicycle.

He still hasn't gotten ther.

The fast-talking mischievous boy ended his ride against the side of a truck. He's somewhere now inside a speechless, huddled figure in a bed in the living room of the Church house.

And the arms and hearts and souls of a mother, a father and two brothers reach out endlessly to find him and bring him all the way home.

He eats now—baby food, cottage cheese, fruit juices, soup—after months of being fed through a tube.

Six times a day, his mother patiently spoons food into the

Pauley Denies Efforts To Hurt Demos

Questioned Legality Of Fund Raising For Nat'l Assembly

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Oilman Edwin W. Pauley said today he had questioned legality of fund-raising efforts for the Democratic National Convention. But he denied a published report he was trying to hurt those efforts.

Pauley said he wrote a letter to that effect but sent it to an attorney, not to prospective contributors.

His statements were touched off by a Washington dispatch by Earl Mazon, New York Herald Tribune news service correspondent. Mazon wrote that Pauley has been warning potential convention fund donors that any donations may be in violation of income tax and corrupt practices laws.

Convention Finance Committee Chairman Mark Boyar said the committee has raised $300,000 of the $450,000 needed and anticipates no difficulty getting the rest.

"We got a ruling (from the Treasury department) that it's tax deductible as a nonprofit enterprise," Boyar said. "It's hard for me to believe Mr. Pauley would do anything like this. He's a good Democrat and he's responsible for bringing the convention here."

Pauley resigned last fall as chairman of the convention host committee after losing a battle with Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, over allocation of convention tickets.

Pauley confirmed he had written the letter attributed to him by the Herald-Tribune, but he denied any knowledge that it was sent to potential convention donors.

"They were asking me and companies I'm affiliated with for a contribution and I wanted to get a ruling on it," Pauley said.

Pauley's letter said the Internal Revenue Service requires money must be used for the convention and subscribed to by people who directly benefit from the convention. He said he was sure that was not being done.

He added that if contributions are made by a corporation and funneled into the national committee instead of convention activities, the corporation would have made a contribution to a political party and indirectly to a candidate.

The Los Angeles Times said the host committee, in turn, sent out letters to reassure potential donors.

It said the Republicans are using exactly the same tax ruling as a guide for their Chicago convention and told of talks with Commissioner of Internal Revenue Dana Latham.

The Odds Are You're Fatter Than Before

CHICAGO (AP)—It's not only the embarrassing bulges that make you fat. If you're still trim—but never will see 20 again—the odds are strong you're a lot fatter than you used to be.

The sad fact is you can be underweight and overweight at the same time.

A scientist from Cornell University's Graduate School of Nutrition described advanced studies on body weight today to the American Institute of Nutrition.

A scientific team working under Dr. J. H. Fryer found that if a young man reaches an "ideal weight" at age 20 and never puts on another ounce, he will at least double his body fat content by age 60—at the expense of lost muscle and other lean tissues.

Where does the excess fat go? Dr. Fryer suspects it is deposited internally as well as under the skin.

The study involved 60 men of age 60 and over and in good general health. It stemmed from the casual observation of the body composition of a 63-year-old man who had been ill.

The man had lost 25 pounds, presented a wasted appearance, and was about 20 pounds under what had been regarded as the ideal weight for his age.

A series of tests disclosed, however, that he still had almost twice as much fat in his body as a well-nourished young man of ideal weight for the same height.

Dr. Fryer said the study showed that a reduction in body specific gravity—more fat in proportion to lean tissue—"is apparently almost inevitable with increased age."

Ike Fortified With 'Guaranteed' Putter On Georgia Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fortified with a new putter "guaranteed" to whittle his golf score, President Eisenhower left today for a vacation at Augusta, Ga.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower took off at 11:02 a.m. aboard his plane, Columbine III. The flight takes about 2 hours.

Shortly before Eisenhower left the White House Rep. J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif.) brought the President a new putter.

"It's guaranteed to take two or three strokes off your game," Younger told the President.

He said the club was designed by Lorin R. Todd, a police lieutenant in Burlingame, Calif.

"It has a rounded face which gives the ball overspin," said Younger, "and it has been approved by the United States Golf Assn."

Eisenhower expects to stay at Augusta, in his cottage at the Augusta National golf course, for a week or 10 days.

Winner Of White House Bout Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who once knocked President Theodore Roosevelt flat on his back in a White House boxing bout is dead.

He was William McKinley Mooney, 94, whose haymaker helped him rise during a long career in government service. He died here Sunday.

Mooney, a postal clerk and amateur boxer, had just defeated E. Von Lindgren of the Swedish legation at the turn of the century when his brother, a reporter, introduced him to Roosevelt at the White House.

The president jumped from the chair and grasped his hand, Mooney often recalled.

"Ah! the chap who defeated Von Lindgren," Roosevelt said. "By George, you are the very man I want to see. Come, my boy, show me how you did it."

Roosevelt took off his coat, jumped to the center of his office and took a boxing stance. "Now," the President said, "give it to me just like you did to Von Lindgren."

Mooney often recalled that he tapped Roosevelt lightly on the chin.

"No, no, that won't do," the President thundered. "Open up! Hit me hard, like you did Von Lindgren."

Mooney obeyed and socked Roosevelt. The President reeled back and toppled to the floor.

"That's it, that's it," the President said. "Now I'll try it on you." Roosevelt and Mooney banged away at each other until the President shouted: "I've got it. That's the blow I wanted. It's just what I've been looking for — to try on some members of the Cabinet."

The postal clerk rose in the service. By 1923, President Warren G. Harding, who had been introduced to fishing on the Potomac by Mooney, appointed him postmaster of Washington. He held the job until he retired in 1938.

He is survived by his widow and two sisters, of Steubenville, Ohio, his birthplace.

He's Raising Horses Covered With Curls

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—C. A. Wolf is raising horses covered with curls.

"It just started out as a hobby, but it looks like it's going to wind up a business," said Wolf, a construction worker who has a small ranch near here.

Wolf said he first saw the curly-haired horses running with a wild band in the Blue Mountains of eastern Oregon 15 years ago.

With the help of a friend, Wolf caught a stallion and two mares. Breeding has been perfected to the point that curly parents always produce curly offspring.

The horse when full-grown stands only 14 hands or less—about the size of a large Shetland. Large or small, they all have an inch-thick coat of curly hair.

The breed apparently is a mixture, Wolf said, of cayuse, thoroughbred and Apaloosa. The cayuse was a tough Indian pony, the Apaloosa a spotted beauty with curly mane.

Wolf hopes to start selling his curly horses when he has a large herd, a registry and a copyright for the name—the Pendletonian.

Aussies Knew About Tiro's Hurricane

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australian weathermen say they have known for a week about the hurricane spotted by Tiro's I, but they hailed the American weather satellite's report as a "magnificent achievement."

The Melbourne Weather Bureau placed the eye of the hurricane 1,000 miles east of Brisbane as of Sunday noon. This was only 200 miles from the position fixed by Tiro's camera in what Washington believed was the first report of the storm.

A spokesman for the bureau said the hurricane was moving southeastward. So far no damage has been reported, he said.

Dixon Named UN Ambassador to France

LONDON (AP)—Sir Pierson Dixon, Britain's permanent delegate to the U.N., today was named ambassador to France.

Dixon will replace Sir Gladwyn Jebb, who retires soon and becomes a baron. Dixon succeeded Jebb at the U.N. post when the latter was shifted to Paris.

Dixon's U.N. job will be taken over by Sir Patrick Dean, deputy under secretary at the Foreign office.

At 11:30 a.m. Saturday, some boys were reported breaking out windows in a church at 500 East 11th. The pastor was reported to have the names and was taking care of the matter.

Bill Williams, 130 East 24th, reported that he had lost a hoist off his truck Saturday afternoon.

At 5:10 p.m. Saturday, Jerry Brown and a pedestrian, H. E. French, 1102 East Fourth, were involved in an accident. The pedestrian said he was only scratched up a little and did not want to file a formal report. Brown insisted, however, and the report was made.

Magistrate Court

Cyril Roy Bray, St. Joseph, charged with careless and imprudent driving by passing on a hill where the view ahead was obstructed on April 5, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

Clarence Monroe Rogers, Jr., charged with speeding on April 1, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs. He is from Kansas City.

James E. Robinson, Kansas City, charged with driving with an expired operator's license, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

Ralph Earl Barr, Jr., Route 4, charged with driving with an expired operator's license, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

Robert Rousch, Kansas City, charged with speeding on March 20, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

James Eligh Robinson, Kansas City, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage, pleaded guilty and was fined $75.

Coleman E. Spann, 400 East Saline, charged with fighting in the 100 block on East Fifth April 8, pleaded innocent and was found innocent.

One overparker failed to appear and his $1 bond was ordered forfeited and 62 others paid the 25-cent fee, including two tickets issued in Warrensburg. The Warrensburg tickets were returned to the car owner, who lives in Knob Noster, with instructions to pay them in the city in which they were issued.

Rosemary Elane Pinkard, 1210 South Missouri, charged with fighting in the 100 block on East Fifth April 8, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

Leonard L. Milburn, Route 1, charged with careless and reckless driving in connection with a car-motor scooter accident at Fifth and Hancock, Sunday, pleaded innocent but after a hearing was found guilty and fined $25.

Evelyn Hagemeier, 1803 South Park, charged with blocking a driveway, failed to appear and his $2 bond was ordered forfeited.

Escape Leap Fatal; Another Lives, Is Caught

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Two college engineering students, flushed from a department store by police after a burglar alarm went off, made a daring leap from the roof.

One made it but was arrested four hours later. The other died of injuries in a hospital.

Robert Earl Davis, 19, son of the supervisor of the U. S. Customs Service in New Orleans, hit a high voltage power line and plunged 60 feet to the sidewalk, suffering fatal injuries.

Louis Napoleon Reiser, 21, of Metairie, jumped five feet to a utility pole, slid down a guy wire to the ground and ran. He was picked up at an apartment he shared with Davis.

Detective Donald Breaux said Reiser would be charged with burglary. He said Reiser admitted burglarizing the Sears Roebuck store early Sunday and also taking $1,000 in cigarettes and food from a LaFayette grocery store.

Breaux said the students had packed $7,000 worth of cameras, watches, guns and neckties in three suitcases, but abandoned them in the store when they fled.

The detective said Reiser and Davis got into the building by removing a metal vent from a skylight and apparently panicked when the burglar alarm sounded as they attempted to unlock a door inside.

Both attended Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette.

Claim Jet Fighter Made a Strafing Run On a Station Wagon

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Two prospectors say a jet fighter made a strafing run on their station wagon on a lonely desert road in Death Valley.

Paul Nett, 60, and Milo Potter, 81, of Long Beach, Calif., said the jet approached from behind, flying low.

"We heard popping noises," said Nett, "and we could see puffs of dust rising in a long line on the desert, about 100 yards away."

The plane disappeared before the men could identify it. The incident occurred Wednesday, but wasn't reported until Sunday.

An Air Force official promised an investigation, but said it appeared unlikely it was an Air Force plane.

toxicating beverage, pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

Jerry Hubert Hanakratt, 2017 East 16th, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage, pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

Conrad Stephens, Route 4, charged with careless and reckless driving, pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

Arnold Kelly Franklin, Buncheon, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage, pleaded guilty and was fined $75.

Marvin Lee Jackson, 708 West Pettis, charged with destruction of property, by breaking out a window glass at 405 North Montauque, pleaded innocent but after a hearing was found guilty and fined $5 and sentenced to five days in jail. The jail term was suspended on condition that he pays for the broken glass.

Accidents

A 1959 Chevrolet parked at 522 North Osage was damaged by a 1954 Plymouth at 11:08 a.m. Sunday.

The Chevrolet is owned by Fred Finsley, Jr., Akron, O., and the Plymouth was being driven north on Osage by Betty Lee Cox, 1300 West Main. She was charged with careless and reckless driving and with leaving the scene of an accident.

Two 15-year-old youths were injured in a motor scooter-car accident at Fifth and Hancock at 3:28 p.m. Sunday.

The injured were Leroy Roark, the driver of the scooter, and a passenger on the scooter, Billy Wisner, 415 South Marvin. Both were taken to Bothwell Hospital by the Gillespie ambulance, where they were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Roark, 646 East Fifth, was driving the scooter east on Fifth, and Leonard L. Milburn, Route 1, was driving a 1957 Ford north on Hancock. Milburn said the scooter ran in front of his car and he was unable to stop in time.

The left side of the car was damaged and the entire scooter was damaged. Milburn was charged with careless and reckless driving.

Fires In City

City firemen were called to a garage at 1002 East 12th Sunday at 12:42 p.m. The owner of the property is Clarence Oswald. The occupant is Billy Coffelt. Burning trash was determined to be the cause of the fire, which did $100 worth of damage.

Candidates Campaigning In the Coal Fields Today

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) both are campaigning in southern West Virginia's coal fields today but they aren't likely to bump into each other.

Kennedy's only stop in the southern fields will be an evening speech at Beckley. Humphrey planned to spend his time in half

Civil Rights Bill May Reach Ike's Desk This Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders predicted today the civil rights bill will be on President Eisenhower's desk before the end of this month.

They anticipated that after an Easter recess the House will concur in Senate amendments to the original House bill. The Senate passed the amended bill 71-18 Friday night.

While Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) of the House Rules Committee declined to say when his group would consider the amended measure, reliable sources said Smith's committee probably would take action by April 20.

Once the rules committee gives its approval, House leaders could call for a final House vote at any time. House approval of the Senate amendments would automatically send the bill to the President.

Because many members may be out of town during the Easter season, a final House vote may be put off until the week of April 24.

Adlai, Nixon Get Nod At Mock Convention

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson was the choice of the Democrats and Vice President Richard M. Nixon got the Republican nomination as presidential candidates during a mock political convention at Lindenwood College Saturday.

One surprise in the convention was the relatively poor showing of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who polled from 30 to 39 votes on each of the first three ballots, then faded.

About 220 delegates from 32 midwest colleges in 10 states attended the convention. In the last two mock sessions, the Lindenwood convention had successfully designated the eventual choices of the major political parties.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York was named as Nixon's running mate. Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) was named as the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

McNamara, speaking in a taped radio interview said religion is becoming less and less important in politics but West Virginia isn't likely to demonstrate this because the state is not "typically American."

McNamara and Kennedy are Catholic. Humphrey is Protestant.

These State Highways Are Closed by Flood

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Highway Commission today reported these highways still closed by high water:

U.S. 24 north of Waverly. Rt. 41 at Miami, open to truck traffic only.

U. S. 65 north of Waverly. U. S. 61 at St. Mary's. Rt. 77 Dorena Ferry in Mississippi County.

Rt. 80 Belmont Ferry in Mississippi County. Rt. 94 Tebbetts to Rhineland and between West Alton and Maches.

Rt. 111 between Forest City and Fortescue, between Craig and Corning and north of Corning. Rt. 159 Holt County, east of Rulo Bridge.

THANK YOU . . .

My sincere thanks to the voters of the Fourth Ward who worked in my behalf and who voted for me in the city election.

Scottish Rite Club Has Its Semi-Annual Dinner

More than 200 members, their ladies and guests attended the semi-annual prospect dinner of the Sedalia Scottish Rite Club, Thursday evening, April 7, at the First Methodist Church, Fourth and Osage Streets. Preceding the dinner, W. A. McVey, chaplain, gave the invocation.

O. C. Blankenship, president, welcomed out-of-town guests and asked Joe Rosen, of the Kansas City Scottish Rite bodies, to introduce the following attending from that organization: John C. Junior, Venerable Master of Kansas City Lodge of Perfection; Mr. and Mrs.

Ed J. Barnes, John R. Greenlee, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Buettner, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. R. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Yahn, Hugh W. Roll, Raymond C. Koehly Jr., R. D. Peterson and R. J. Almanyans. The attendance of George Whitney, a former Sedalian and now a member of the New York Consistory was noted. After the introduction of Mr. and Mrs. George Chamberlin, Master of Sedalia Lodge No. 236, a large group of prospects was introduced by Bert Heacock, dinner chairman, of the Sedalia Scottish Rite Club.

Piano duets were rendered by Miss Lynn Leftwich, member of Job's Daughters No. 15, and Miss Linda Strader, who played: "Sonata in B Flat" by Mozart; "Danse Negre" by Scott; "Hungarian Dance No. 5" by Brahms; "Norwegian Dance" by Greig; "On the Trail" by Rolfe; and "Chief Big Wig" by Masters.

John A. Weiss, director of the Temple Association and member of the executive committee and general membership committee, Kansas City bodies, was introduced as the speaker of the evening by Rosen. Weiss complimented the club for the excellent attendance and invited each blue lodge member to affiliate with the Scottish Rite.

He then gave a very interesting talk on Scottish Rite, what it is and what it represents. He pointed out that Scottish Rite has a history of several hundred years and presented a concise summary of the historical aspects and origin of the organization. He explained there are two jurisdictions, Northern and Southern, and that Missouri, in the Southern jurisdiction, enjoys four Scottish Rite bodies, which are located in St. Louis, Kansas City, Joplin and St. Joseph. All bodies have a definite program — are particularly interested in the public educational field, public schools, and civic betterment.

He also informed the group that in 1927 a million dollars was donated to a leading University in Washington, D.C., and explained how, after all these years, this money has doubled and that they have been able to render outstanding aid to young men and women interested in further education, particularly in the field of Government.

Weiss then delved into the history and destruction of Babylon and stressed that its history indicated that people to cease to discipline themselves are in trouble. Weiss impressed on the audience that Scottish Rite is effective in this respect, is not something one absorbs by just taking the degrees, but is something to which a lifetime may be devoted and still continue to get a new message.

He closed by extending an invitation to all guests to join the spring class in Kansas City, May 3, 4, 5 and 6 and also extended an invitation to all present to attend the Spring Dance, at the Scottish Rite Temple, Kansas City, April 23.

The benediction was pronounced by Chaplain McVey.

In the Conelrad system, radio stations which have signed up to take part will immediately shift to either 640 or 1240 kilocycles, a maneuver which would throw enemy direction finders into a dither.

All television operations will be closed down completely during the May 3 test, as will most FM radio stations. Some FM stations will continue on the air with state civil defense networks.

In the May test, Conelrad stations will all be connected by wire.

About 30 seconds before the May 3 drill, every radio and TV announcer in the more than 5,000 broadcasting stations across the country will say: "For the next 30 minutes, this station will discontinue its regular programming to cooperate with the United States government in testing the Conelrad emergency broadcast system."

A high-pitched tone will be heard for 15 seconds.

The announcers will say: "This station now leaves the air to cooperate with the United States government in conducting a Conelrad drill. Please tune your radio to 640 or 1240 kilocycles for a special civil defense program. Normal broadcasting will be resumed in approximately 30 minutes."

Mrs. Bates Again Heads Broadway PTA

Mrs. William Bates was re-elected president of the Broadway PTA at the monthly meeting held in the school auditorium.

The other officers elected to serve for the coming year with Mrs. Bates were: first vice-president, Mrs. Frank Sellers; second vice-president, Mrs. Harley Sanford; third vice president, Mrs. Cline Cain; secretary, Mrs. Harold Meyers; treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd Knox; historian, Mrs. John Rissler.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Bates. A very inspiring devotional was given by the Rev. Ronald Cooper.

The first grade Rhythm Band played several numbers with Barbara Schroeder and Dan Meyers directing.

A very interesting program on foreign languages was presented by Mrs. Virgil Ellis' fourth grade French class and Mrs. Kenneth Buchholz, sixth grade Spanish class.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by Mrs. Walter Strickert and her committee.

Death Ends The Story Of Billy Stanciu

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Death ended the story of William (Billy the Kid) Stanciu, latest boyfriend in the tempestuous life of Beverly Aadland, the day he became 21. Miss Aadland, the late Errol Flynn's last flame, herself narrowly escaped death when the muscular would-be actor fired a fatal bullet into his head, she said. She told police Stanciu forced his way into her apartment Saturday, raped her at gunpoint, threatened to kill her, then sobbed, "I love you too much. I can't kill you"—and shot himself. He died Sunday in a hospital prison ward.

Stanciu had been booked on suspicion of rape. Police listed his death as suicide and said they have no immediate plans for an inquest. An autopsy is pending.

Beverly, 17, said he asked her to marry him and she refused. "He told me that I had ruined his life—that he loved me, but I didn't love him, and he was going to kill me," she said.

"That's a pick of lies," asserted Stanciu's brother, Kenneth, 22, another aspiring actor. "Beverly asked Billy to marry her a few weeks ago."

He asked: "Why would Billy want to rape her? He and Beverly have been going together every night for six weeks. Everybody in town knows that."

He said he was certain his brother wouldn't kill himself—"he wasn't that kind of guy. He had everything to live for."

The dead man, son of Romanian immigrants, had a juvenile arrest record. Police found him lying nearly nude in Beverly's apartment.

Beverly, a slender platinum blonde, was held in Juvenile Hall under a law permitting detention in cases where there is a lack of adequate parental supervision. She faces a hearing Wednesday to determine if she has such supervision.

A night club entertainer since Flynn died last October at the age of 50, she was to have started a tour this week. She was Flynn's steady companion for two years until he died of a heart attack in Vancouver, B. C. Her attorneys are seeking a share of the late actor's estate for Beverly.

Brown To Try Hand At Concerto

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Now that eight-year-old Kenneth Brown has composed a successful rhapsody which drew raves from the critics he wants to try his hand at a symphony or a concerto or maybe a ballet to which his two little cousins can dance.

"He feels he will make his career in composing music," said his mother, Vera Brown. "I will do all in my power to see that it is done."

Mrs. Brown said she hopes to send Kenny to the Conservatory of Music here but Kenny will continue to take composition and theory lessons from a private instructor.

The Philadelphia Orchestra, under assistant conductor William Smith, played Kenny's "Israeli Rhapsody" Saturday before a full house in the Academy of Music. Smith orchestrated the piano composition.

Kenny has been writing music since he was four. He composed "Israeli Rhapsody" last January. Most of the critics agreed the composition had great feeling and expression.

Kenny took his success in stride. Sunday he spent most of the afternoon playing baseball but he did find time to make his mother promise him "to take him to town to the department store so he could play the organ."

The boy is dead set on having an organ. One which he has his eye on costs $2,500. Mrs. Brown, whose husband is an auto salesman, says the family can't afford it now.

Kenny also took his mind off baseball long enough to constructively criticize Smith's orchestration—privately to his mother.

She had admonished him before the concert he was not to say anything which would embarrass her.

So when Smith asked him what

Try to Keep Audience In Front of Set

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television did its level best to keep the audience in front of its sets most of Sunday. There were special programs galore.

NBC's Hall of Fame had a delightful production of "The Cradle Song." It was a sweet and sentimental story about a community of cloistered nuns who raised a founding.

The drama lay in their mixture of joy and sorrow as they lost her to marriage and the world.

Based on a play written almost half a century ago, "The Cradle Song" was an appropriate choice for this religious season. It was a beautifully mounted production with the expert services of Judith Anderson, Siobhan McKenna, and Helen Hayes.

It was followed immediately by an American Heritage show about Andrew Carnegie. "Millionaire's Mite," however, bit off quite a piece of biography for a 60-minute show. It attempted to take the Scottish industrialist from a small boy to a dying old man at 80—with highlights of his career in flashbacks.

You can't get that much in, particularly when the subject lived a full, many-faceted life. Nevertheless, it was an interesting show. David Wayne played Carnegie. Judith Anderson played his mother. (Miss Anderson had a busy night, first as a prioress and then as a millionaire's parent.) Both of them had the lovely time burring their speech.

During the afternoon, NBC gave opera lovers Mozart's "Don Giovanni." and CBS took the sports watchers to the Augusta National Golf Club for the wind-up of the Masters tournament.

It was a day when a lot of leaf raking and grass sowing was neglected.

Recommended tonight: "Author at Work," NBC, 9:30-10 —novel short play with Ernie Kovacs and Henry Jones about a writer who has to live his plots; Steve Allen Show, NBC, 10-11—with Charlton Heston and Rise Stevens.

he thought of the orchestration, Kenny said: "It wasn't so bad."

But Sunday he called his mother aside and told her: "It should have been stronger. There were two places in the song where Mr. Smith could have brought out a little more feeling."

Kenny says he composes music from things he visions in his mind. When his mother asked him if he felt he could express these things for different instruments, he answered: "I think I could but I need an organ with the different instruments to try it out."

Lo, the Poor Candidate

America's political carnivals, from primary to convention and beyond, dole out a great deal of nonsense. We not only expect it, but most people seem to get a kick out of it.

Occasionally, however, things get a little too absurd to be passed over lightly. One such matter came up in Wisconsin.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, answering a question about relative expenditures made by him and his opponent, Sen. John Kennedy, flared: "Let's not kid ourselves, gentlemen. I know a Greyhound bus costs less than a Convar."

The plain import of this statement was that Humphrey, the poor man's candidate, traveled everywhere by bus, while Kennedy luxuriated in the Convar his family bought him.

All right, Senator, let's not kid ourselves.

Does Humphrey intend to convey that he rode a Greyhound bus everytime he went back and forth from Washington to Wisconsin? Of course he did not. He flew—albeit in a commercial plane on schedules not governed by him.

Does he also contend that every place Kennedy went he flew in his own plane?

The fact is that there are no votes in the sky. Kennedy campaigned on the ground from town to town, just like Humphrey. He used a private automobile, as untold thousands of politicians, rich and poor, have used before him.

In political campaigns the bus is not a poor man's conveyance at all. It is in plain fact a modern convenience much favored by politicians and newsmen as an easy way to transport substantial numbers from town to town.

A rich man, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, used the bus extensively in his 1958 campaign. And he probably could buy the bus company.

One columnist even suggested that the private automobile was a Kennedy luxury unavailable to hard-pressed Hubert. It was said that Kennedy could thus conserve his energies better than Humphrey, jostled in his bus. Anyone who ever saw Sen. Estes Kefauver dead asleep in a campaign bus untold times in 1956 would have to question how relaxing it is.

Certainly Kennedy has his own plane. Certainly he flew from Washington to Wisconsin, and within Wisconsin between more or less distant points. (Humphrey did the same within the state.)

But none of us should buy this foolishness about bus vs. plane. Humphrey is simply riding in the style to which the Rockefellers are accustomed.

Health Secretary Discreet and Loyal

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The cleavage between President Eisenhower and his chief Cabinet officer on health benefits for the aged was brought sharply into focus during a recent closed-door grilling of Health Secretary Arthur Flemming by the Ways and Means Committee.

The congressmen knew that Secretary Flemming had favored a liberal plan of federal aid to women over 62 and men over 65 in need of hospital care. In fact, they had understood he was privately for the Forand Bill, which the American Medical Association has labeled "Socialized Medicine."

They also knew that President Eisenhower had emphatically opposed the Forand Bill. Finally they knew that after various White House huddles, Ike had instructed Flemming to draft a "voluntary" health program for the aged which would be handled by the big insurance companies.

But they couldn't get the embarrassed Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to elaborate on the differences between himself and the President.

"Isn't this so-called voluntary program that the Eisenhower administration favors really a subsidy for private insurance firms?" asked Rep. Aime Forand of Rhode Island, author of the aid-to-aged bill. "I would like a 'Yes' or 'No' answer, Mr. Secretary."

Flemming hemmed and hawed, finally agreed with Forand's conclusion.

Loyal To Ike

"Not long ago I heard you make a very convincing speech to a group of social workers, in which you stated that the problem of medical care for the aged could no longer be delayed, that it couldn't, in your own words, be 'swept under the carpet,'" Democrat Thad Machrowicz of Michigan reminded Flemming. "I agree with you but would like to know if you have a program, and if so, what it is? I mean a program of your own."

Flemming replied that, as a member of the President's Cabinet, he would follow the wishes of the President in devising a program. "That still doesn't answer the question to my satisfaction," broke in Democrat William Green of Philadelphia. "Isn't it fair to assume that, as Secretary of Health, you do have a program of your own? Isn't it also fair to assume that you presented that program to the White House?"

Secretary Flemming did not answer. "What happened at the White House meeting?" pressed Green. "We have heard reports that you advocated some form of the Forand approach to helping the aged. Is that true? If not, what program did you advocate at the White House?"

"As you know, Congressman Green, what transpires at White House meetings is a matter of executive privilege," replied Flemming.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Musical Math — A teacher of arithmetic has found that children learn multiplication tables more easily and accurately by singing them, as verse can be recalled more readily when set to music. Such a discovery has its serious side.

The possibilities, however, refuse to confine themselves to the merely practical. They have a spaciousness about them appropriate to this age. They ask extension into realms where, for all we know, songs and sums may be only different ways of saying the same thing; and where perhaps the gravest mathematical assumptions cannot be expressed without a smile.

In such a realm the duty of the philosopher is to let the punishment fit the rhyme:

Two times two is simply four, nothing less and nothing more. Five times five is twenty-five; let it jump and let it jive.

If your teacher's really fussy, get the answer from Debussy. If division throws you off, try some Rimski-Korsakov.

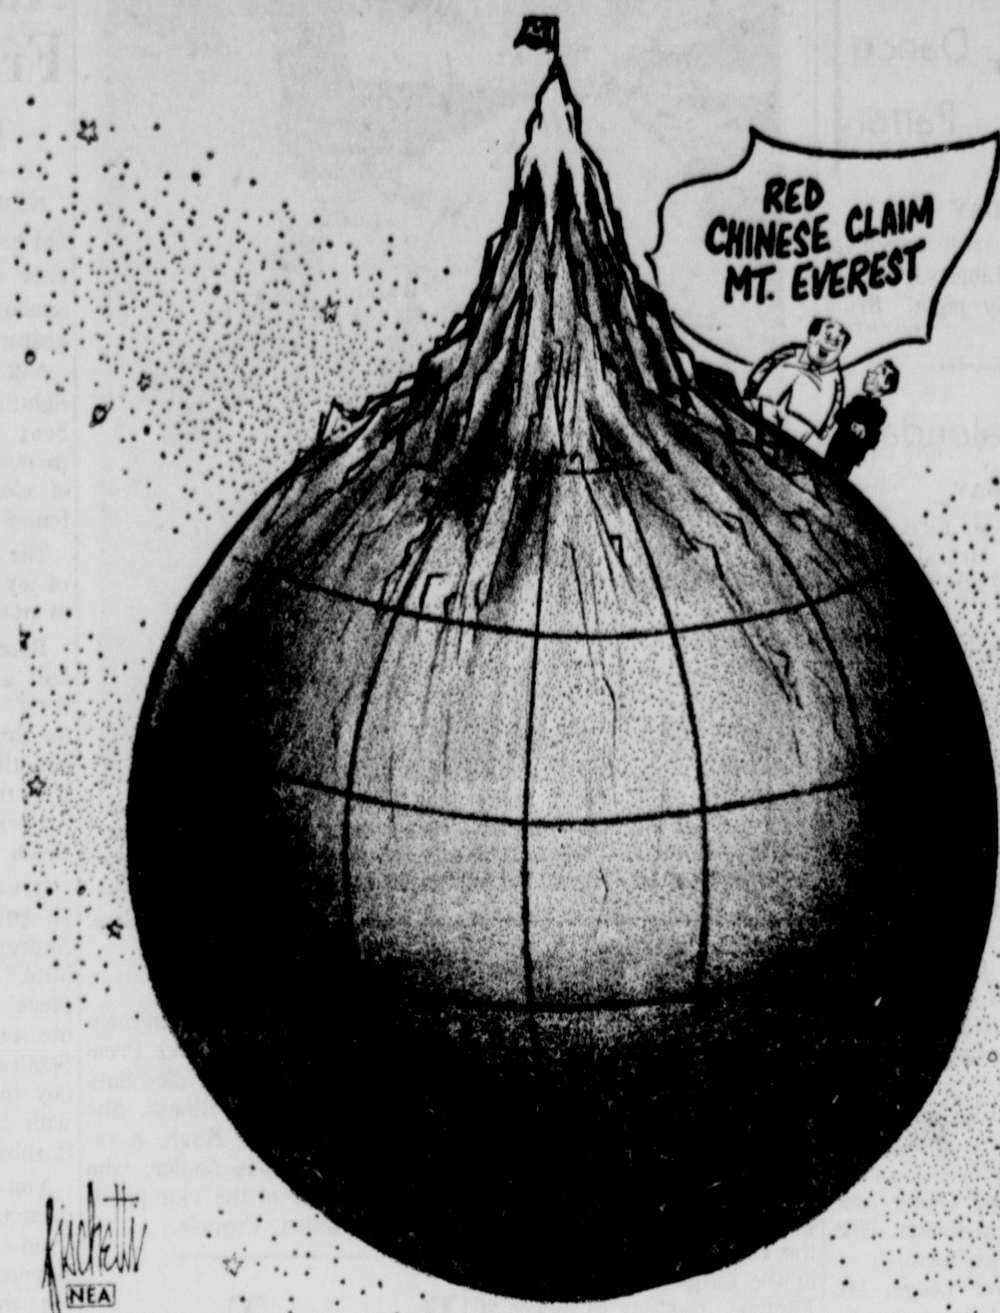

When equations you forget, dance them to a minuet. Tables of the "froms" and "ands" set themselves to sarabandes.

The French may call eleven onze, but you can add it to Saint-Saens. When a fraction gets too vulgar, chasten it with Edward Elgar. Oranges and apples mingle when you find the magic jingle. Relativity's a cinch, beaten out by Mr. Munch.

If you're floundering in roots, square them with a trill of flutes. No one need be phased by nth: just remember Mahler's "Tenth."

Politicians Are Guessing---In Confusion

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Find an inexpensive fortune-teller and you'll know as much as the politicians do now about the presidential race.

They're guessing, and they're all mixed up.

Right now the accent is on individuals—the personality and appeal of the would-be presidential candidates. On election day what probably will count most is the mood of the country. The politicians hardly mention that.

In mid-April the pros have no more idea who will get the Democratic nomination than they did in January. Nor can they even be sure Vice President Richard M. Nixon will get the Republican nomination, although he now has no open opposition.

The presidential primaries have not proved anything—even to the winning or losing candidates.

Sen. John F. Kennedy's win in Wisconsin last week won't count for much if he gets slaughtered May 10 in the West Virginia primary against Sen. Hubert Humphrey. It might be enough to make Kennedy pick up his marbles.

Politicians seem to give the undepressible Humphrey the least chance of getting the nomination at the Democratic convention. He lost to Kennedy in Wisconsin by more than 100,000 votes.

But it was like a shot of adrenaline. Humphrey immediately began rocketing around West Virginia in anticipation of May 10.

Nixon, unopposed so far for the Republican nomination, finished third behind Kennedy and Humphrey in Wisconsin in total votes cast. He has been slipping in the polls. He can't stand too much of that.

Maybe it's because he hasn't said much all year. In turn, maybe that's because he didn't think he had to, since he looked like a cinch for the nomination.

Nixon is like a man in a political corset, laced tight. For seven years he has been President Eisenhower's shadow and so far as the public knows his yes-man. At least, they have had no public differences.

But, since there is only one Eisenhower, Nixon can't run on his record alone. Before the general ran in 1952 he was a proven military leader, a popular hero, and a recognized apostle of good will.

His was a "papa-knows-best" vote, two times in a row. He not only gave the country two conservative administrations, he did more. By his "let's-be-calm" attitude he gave the country a chance to catch its breath.

But Nixon, although he has the advantage of being Eisenhower's choice, is neither a popular hero nor a father image. He still has to convince people he should be trusted in the presidency.

This means that he must appeal not only to the conservative Republicans, who are his main support, but also to Democrats and independents, without whose vote he can not win at all.

This is where the corset squeezes. He can not get as liberal as the Democrats. They have that corner staked out. Besides, it would be too sudden a switch for him to be convincing.

Prepare for Retirement By Indulging in Hobbies

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

The recent columns on retirement have aroused so much reader interest I thought you'd enjoy excerpts from two of the most fascinating of the many letters I have received on the subject.

From Augusta, Ga., Kenneth McNeill writes of his retirement after 47 years of work in "the very exacting operation" of dispatching trains, "a job that requires your undivided attention and concentration for 8 hours."

Says Mr. McNeill, "Having seen quite a few men break under the strain and go to pieces, I decided many years ago that when I was on the job to give it all I had and when my time was over to completely forget the railroad."

"In order to do this, it was necessary to develop an interest in many other things. I took up hunting and fishing, gardening, flowers, carpentry, painting and other things too numerous to mention. I have always been an avid reader and spend several hours a day reading."

"By giving to your hobbies the concentration and attention you give to your job," he concludes, "a man can become quite expert. He will find the more he learns the more there is to learn. Since my retirement I have not had a dull moment."

"I am not a writer and it is hard to express just what I want to say but my advice to anyone would be to try anything and keep trying until you find several things you are interested in and concentrate on them."

"Do this many years before your retirement age. When you are on the job, give it everything you've got. Your employer is paying you, so give him a little extra service."

"But when you leave the office, forget it completely until you go to work again. It can be done as I did it and when time for retirement comes, you will look forward to it instead of dreading it."

From the distaff side, this is how Mrs. L. Philip Newbaker of Garrison-on-Hudson, N. Y., helped her husband anticipate his retirement.

"What is wrong with studying some musical instrument?" she asks. "It is one of the greatest outlets in the world for many. A lesson a week is not a (great) expense."

"Many good people have stored away an instrument that someone in the family has discarded and most pawnshops have used instruments that can be purchased at a reasonable price."

"For years," Mrs. Newbaker relates, "my husband has wanted to play a bass violin. . . . Last June he began. I cannot tell you the satisfaction he has had. Every night he practices 45 minutes and takes a lesson a week."

"He now can join in on some things with piano or accordion, both of which I play, and over the Christmas season played the carols with a group of adults and children at a party. . . . He has taken some ribbing but more praise and admiration from his friends. As he says, 'It's one of the greatest things that has happened to me.'"

Mrs. Newbaker concludes her letter with the statement that "the study or learning of music represents a challenge which results in mental exercise and stimulation that is not brought about by more sedentary pursuits such as reading or listening."

May I express thanks to Mr. McNeill and Mrs. Newbaker for all of you and on my own behalf?

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Public Schools Cost 300 Million Dollars

Missouri's public elementary and secondary school system cost more than 300 million dollars last fiscal year, according to a report by the state Department of Education.

Total receipts were $314,314,348. Of this amount, 72 per cent came from all local sources (including sale of bonds); 25 per cent from the state; and three per cent from the federal government. Local taxes by themselves accounted for $142,062,912, or about 45 per cent of the total.

As might be expected, the school story last fiscal year can be summarized by one word, "up". Practically everything is up from the year before, and for that matter, from every year before, in most instances. Expenditures are up, taxes are up. So is the number of teachers, their salaries and education; enrollment; and average daily attendance. And, of course, bonded indebtedness is up, too, though the amount of new bonds issued is down for the state as a whole as compared to the preceding fiscal year.

Average tax levies on a hundred dollars valuation for three-director elementary school districts was $1.61 last fiscal year, an increase from the previous year of 16 cents. For six-director elementary districts, average tax levy was $1.86, an increase of 12 cents. For districts maintaining high schools, average tax levy was $2.37, up 11 cents.

As for teachers, there were 31,354, including classroom teachers, superintendents, principals and supervisors. Salaries ranged on an average for the foregoing from $3,019 in the poorer districts to $5,273 in the larger and richer district, speaking generally. Total amount expended for teachers salaries was $138,521,197, pretty much half and half between local and state sources.

Average preparation of all teachers was 146.5 college semester hours, an increase of about six hours from the fiscal year before.

Bernard Voges, director of finance and statistics for the state Department of Education, considers the figures on teacher pay and preparation among the most significant. He says they seem to show that people are willing to pay more for better teachers.

Pupil enrollment jumped about 27,000, standing at 805,216 last fiscal year. Average daily attendance, grades 1-12, was 647,630.

It might be noted that pupil enrollment during the present school year has increased about the same as last and the State Department of Education predicts a continuing increase in the foreseeable future. Relating to this is the Missouri birth rate which now exceeds 95,000 a year. For comparison, the number of births ten years ago was about 85,000 a year.

And to top it all off, unpaid bonds amounted to $277,146,002, up nearly 20 million dollars from the previous fiscal year. New bonds issued totaled $30,826,900, down about 14 million dollars for the state as a whole from the fiscal year before.

What is the forecast? Continued increases all along the line!

New Industry Creates Nearly 12,000 Jobs

New manufacturing industry and expansions in Missouri during the first quarter of this year have created nearly 12,000 jobs, says the state Division of Resources and Development.

There were 57 new manufacturing industries, 62 manufacturing expansions and 18 new non-manufacturing and special industries, according to the division.

Estimate of added payroll was about 50 million dollars.

According to latest figures of the state Division of Employment Security, 390,200 persons in the state are working in manufacturing jobs.

Fur Permits Show Increase

Permits to Missouri fur dealers and fur buyers for the 1959-60 season were 17 per cent more than the season before, according to figures of the state Conservation Commission.

Here are average pelt prices paid in the state: Mink, $14; beaver, $3.95; raccoon, $1.50; spotted skunk, $1.30; bobcat, $1; weasel, $1; striped skunk, 90 cents; red fox, 80 cents; muskrat, 75 cents; coyote, 50 cents; and gray fox, 40 cents.

Plowing Job May Favor, Or Hurt Crop Prospects

By C. M. Christy
MU Extension Soils Specialist

The kind of a job you do plowing your fields may either favor or hurt crop prospects. You may be rushed with spring work and tempted to speed up the plowing job. But, shallow plowing to finish quicker may cut yields more than you could hope to gain by planting a few days earlier. The care and attention you give this first part of seedbed preparation may influence growth of crops all through the season. You may have observed the poor yields of some spots in your fields that were poorly plowed.

Different kinds of soils react differently when plowed at different depths. Some soils develop an undesirable compacted area that will affect root development. Plants must develop large, vigorous roots to yield well. A compacted area tends to develop at the depth you plow. If you plow three or four inches deep, compaction may develop at that depth. Greater traffic with heavy tractors and other equipment on fields all contribute to compaction. Tractor wheels that run in the furrow certainly contribute to compaction. Soil structure can be damaged, at least temporarily, by plowing when soil moisture is too high. And that damage may affect your final yields. A shallow root system develops when plowing is shallow. Plants with shallow roots are affected adversely by changing moisture conditions. This points up the advantage of deep plowing.

Now, speed with more tractor power may make it appear that you are plowing deeply. However, if you actually measure the furrow depth from time to time you won't be guessing. Generally, a depth of seven to 10 inches is preferable for summer growing crops. Among other things, it provides plants a greater volume of soil from which to get needed moisture and nutrition. A seven inch depth of soil over an acre weighs about two million pounds.

Since a tighter zone does tend to develop in the furrow bottom, it is well to vary depth of plowing on a given field from year to year. Plowing one to two inches deeper each year will help you keep the compacted area broken up and minimize its adverse effects.

A food supply, moisture and air are vital for plant growth. A crop that is shortchanged with any of these essentials will not perform yieldwise at its capacity. Adequate needed fertilizers and lime are most effective when plowed under to a good depth. Deeper plowing encourages movement of moisture downward as well as upward. A sealed-off zone at shallow depths retards moisture movement. Shallow rooting prevents both moisture and nutrients from being utilized efficiently. Deeper plowing helps aeration and air is essential for root development. Poor aeration cuts down the efficiency of nitrogen and the ability of plants to obtain other nutrients.

One practice alone is not an answer to good crop yields. The combination of all essentials will help your soils do a better job cropwise. Deeper plowing alone may not help much. You need adequate limestone and fertilizers too. Deep plowing will help nutrients and moisture be more effective.

Don't guess, measure the depth you plow. Change the depth from year to year. Deeper plowing may take you a little longer but it could pay off with handsome dividends from better acre yields.

Adlai Says He's Not To Be a Candidate

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson said today "I won't seek the Democratic nomination and I don't expect to be nominated."

Stevenson, who arrived by plane from a nine-week tour of Latin American countries, said his position on the presidential nomination "is no different from that of 1956."

The two-time presidential loser told newsmen that he has "no preference" in the race for his party's presidential nomination. "They are all my friends," he said.

Stevenson, who flew here from San Juan, Puerto Rico, said his visits to 14 Latin American countries were "most useful."

"I think I come back a better citizen of the hemisphere," he said.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County

By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

Dates Ahead

Tuesday, April 12, Feeder Pig Sale, Versailles.

Tuesday, April 12, 8 p.m., Farm Bureau Market Intention and Livestock Outlook Meeting at Business College.

Wednesday, April 13, Lafayette County Beef Breeders Association Sale, Higginsville, Mo.

Saturday, April 16, Feeder Pig Sale, Warsaw.

Tuesday, April 19, new tree delivery date from Missouri Conservation Commission.

Friday, April 22, 8 p.m., Hog Meeting, Courthouse.

Saturday, April 23, Open House at the University of Missouri for Junior and Senior-High School students and parents interested in college training in the agricultural sciences.

Thursday, April 28, 1 p.m., Pasture Tour.

Hog Picture April 22

The Swine Development Committee of the county with John Knaus as chairman, is calling a meeting of interested hog folks in the courthouse for Friday night, April 22. A special attraction for the meeting is a new colored film entitled "The Pig and the Picnic."

This film does an excellent job of pointing out some of the big reasons why we need to be producing meat type hogs. This film was put together by the American Meat Institute at Iowa State College. It does a good job of telling the story in a different way.

During the meeting we hope to make plans for a substitute Hog Grading and Marketing meeting sometime this summer or fall.

Pasture Tour April 28

Plans are in the making for a Pasture Tour on Thursday afternoon, April 28. The tour will probably be in the eastern part of the county but exact stops have not yet been determined. J. Ross Fleetwood Extension Field Crops Specialist, will be assisting.

Farm Bureau Outlook Meeting Tuesday Night

The Farm Bureau Livestock Committee of which John Knaus is chairman will hold an outlook meeting at the Business College on this Tuesday night, April 12. It is billed as a two hour session starting promptly at 8 and being through at 10 p.m.

It will include a discussion of livestock production and marketing and how those practices affect the prices that are paid for livestock. Livestock production is especially important in Pettis County where it amounts to over five million dollars annually in sales.

Folks assisting with the meeting will include E. M. Woods, livestock and marketing director of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, and Don Waggoner of the Producers Livestock Commission Co. at East St. Louis, Ill.

2-4-D Granules for Corn

A number of questions have come to the Extension office regarding the use of 2-4-D granules instead of the liquid spray for pre-emergence control of weeds in corn. The first thing of course is to be sure to get enough material on the ground.

The general recommendation is 1 1/2 pounds of actual 2-4-D when the entire area is treated broadcast. These granules are put on the 7-inch row which amounts to 14 inches for the two rows. That material is 25 per cent material so two pounds of material would need to be used to get a 1/2 pound of actual 2-4-D.

The point in question is whether we will get rain soon after the application is made so that the crystals can dissolve and form a film over the soil. If it should not rain for several weeks after planting, probably much of the effectiveness of the granules would be lost.

Of course when the material is sprayed on after planting or sprayed on in the row it is already in solution and we do not have to worry about rain.

Something along the same line happened where we put Simazine on a demonstration last year on a corn field. That material is a wettable powder that we had in solution but it still requires more rain to make it truly effective.

No rain fell on the treated plots for several weeks and a scattering of weeds came up over the area.

Nematodes in the Garden

Some gardens are infected with root-knot nematodes. They are tiny eel-like worms living in the soil and feed on plant roots and cause galls or root-knots to form. Severely infested plants are stunted, often discolor and produce little.

Nearly all vegetables can be attacked but usually most susceptible ones are tomatoes, carrots and beans. To decide if your garden is infested, check roots of vegetables for the presence of knots.

Of course good healthy bean plants would have nodules on the roots for taking nitrogen out of the air. Frequently the knots from nematodes are found on tiny carrot roots on the sides of the carrots and again on your tomato roots.

It takes about ten to 14 days time between the application of a nematocide and planting the garden. Certainly you would not want to hold off in planting your carrots but if you have serious trouble with such insects on your tomatoes you would have ample time to treat that ground ahead of tomato planting time.

We do have information regarding materials and methods of treatment here in the Extension office.

County Livestock Numbers Up

We have just received the information on livestock and poultry numbers in the county as compared to other counties in the state. It is prepared by the statistician's office over at the University.

The biggest increase over a year ago is in hogs with a 16 per cent bulge. Figures show 50,700 hogs on

Planter Is Often Cause Of Skipping

May Reduce Stand, Resulting In Loss Of Many Bushels

By ROSS FLEETWOOD
MU Extension Field Crops Specialist

Have you thought what causes the skips in an otherwise good stand of corn? There are, of course, a number of things, such as insects, diseases and poor seed that can affect stands.

However, the speed at which you run your planter is often the main cause. Most planters in use today use planter wheels for power to run planter box plates. Any wheel slippage affects seed spacing. And big clods, depressions or other obstructions can cause slippage. The amount of slippage increases rapidly with higher speeds of planting.

It is entirely possible to reduce stands by as much as 10 to 15 per cent by planting at a speed too high for the planter. Increased speed may save a few hours in planting but cost 10 to 15 bushels per acre yield on 100 bushel corn.

You do know the high importance of plant population in securing high yields from high soil fertility or heavy fertilizer applications. In order to get and maintain good uniform stands requires high germination, well graded, treated seed of vigorous, adapted hybrid. In addition, protection from insects by the use of a good soil insecticide, such as aldrin, is good insurance. Most of us are doing a pretty good job of fertilization, seed selection, and weed control. But, if we fail to get even distribution of the seed in the row we can, and often do, reduce the efficiency of these good practices.

The highway safety slogan "slow down and live" might well be changed slightly and fit the case in hand "slow down and get an even stand."

Some of the newer planters are made for higher speeds but even they, as most of our cars, will go faster than they should be driven for utmost efficiency. "Haste can make waste" in corn planting.

Many of us pick out a level spot, frequently in the barn yard, where we set the planter in gear and measure rate of planting. We do this because it is easy to see the kernels on the undisturbed soil. However, a check in the field on the seed bed available and at the speed we actually plan to use may show different results. Time spent giving seed distribution a field check may prove to be the most valuable time we spend on the entire corn production job. Be sure you are using an efficient planting speed for your corn planter this year.

Jan. 1, 1959, as compared to 59,500 on Jan. 1, 1960.

Cattle numbers show a 5 per cent increase from 57,200 a year ago to 60,400 now. At the same time milk cow numbers have decreased from 10,400 to 10,200.

Stock sheep also show a 200 decrease from 5,200 in 1959 to an even 5,000 in 1960. Poultry numbers are down about 6 1/2 per cent from 154,200 in 1959 to 143,800 estimated in 1960.

MU 4-H Members To Be at Award Reunion

Two University of Missouri 4-H members have been named Missouri's representatives at the Illinois annual Key Award reunion in Urbana.

Edmund Bohl, Jr., of Hermann, and Miss Kathleen Van Hooser, of Lebanon, made the trip to the University of Illinois April 2.

The Key Award is one of the top 4-H recognitions to club members in each county. The award goes to members over 16, who have been in 4-H at least five years and have shown leadership. Bohl and Miss Van Hooser are Missouri winners of the award. Each year Illinois 4-Hers invite representatives from surrounding states.

Better Cattle, Hog Prices A Surprise

By GLENN GRIMES
MU Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist

Most of us have been a bit surprised at the more desirable prices of both beef cattle and hogs so far this year.

Let's take a quick look at the numbers marketed up to mid-March.

Cattle slaughter has been up about 11 per cent above last year, but weights have been a little lighter and pounds of production showed about a 10 per cent increase.

Hog slaughter has been up approximately three per cent, which ties closely to what was anticipated. An interesting note on hog slaughter is that since mid-February hog slaughter has been five to six per cent below last year. This is probably explained with one word, "SNOW."

Total red meat production is estimated to be up some six per cent for the first 2 1/2 months of this year.

With this much increase in supply it seems evident that demand is strong. Maybe here is where we have something good from all the cold weather and snow we have struggled through, since shoveling snow and winter exercise increases red meat demand.

Another surprise on supplies will be next fall's marketing of hogs as predicted in the March Pig Crop Report. This report on intended farrowings for this spring includes ten of the corn belt states that produce about two-thirds of the hogs. According to this report, producers have made little change in plans since December and are going to farrow 13 per cent fewer sows this spring than last. This is less than a one per cent change from intentions to farrow in December report. Amount of decrease by states ranges from seven per cent in Missouri and Ohio to 28 per cent in South Dakota.

The effect this will have on hog prices next fall will be quite desirable.

Looking at the pattern of farrowing this spring farmers have cut back most in December through February. This should bring about a substantial summer

Don't Underrate Them

Cardinals Are Exhibition Champs of National League

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals are the National League champs of the exhibition baseball season and when Manager Solly Hemus cautions "don't underrate us" it might be time to listen.

Seventh and woeful with a porous defense, erratic pitching and little batting punch in 1959, the rejuvenated Cards head into Tuesday's NL opener at San Francisco after raring up an 18-8 spring record.

While the exhibition season is sometimes about as helpful as second guessing yesterday's weather, the Cards have been an eye-popping revelation to all who have seen them this spring.

There is added pitching in ex-Pirate Ronnie Kline and young Bob Miller, more sock with Daryl Spencer, Bob Nieman, Leon Wagner and a comebacking Stan Musial, and a healthier defense with Spencer at short and Musial's aging legs at first base instead of the outfield.

Add these to the few good carry-over features from last year's club—pitchers like Larry Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Lindy McDaniel and Vinegar Bend Mizell, and steady hitters Joe Cunningham, Bill White and Ken Boyer, and there is reason for Hemus' optimism.

Asked which team has impressed him most this spring, Solly said: "My own club. We're 50 per cent better than last year. Don't underrate us. We're coming."

Broglio (7 innings) and Gibson handled the pitching and Musial had three hits Sunday as the Cards posted victory No. 18, 5-2 over the Chicago Cubs at Las Vegas. The Cubs played without ace shortstop Ernie Banks, who suffered a bloody nose in a pepper game workout.

In other Sunday games, which wound up the warm-up season for the Nationals, Los Angeles whipped San Francisco 8-4 at Sacramento, Cincinnati's four first-inning runs clipped Milwaukee 4-2 at Louisville, Pittsburgh edged Kansas City 3-2 at Fort Myers, Fla., Baltimore blanked Philadelphia 5-0 at Miami, the New York Yankees stopped the Chicago White Sox on a one-hitter 11-0 at Tampa, Cleveland edged Boston 9-8 in New Orleans, and Washington beat Detroit 5-4 at Lakeland, Fla.

The American League clubs, who open their season April 18 and 19 this year, will be busy with exhibitions in Florida most of this week while the NL gets a head start.

Right-hander Jim Coates and reliever Ryne Duren combined for the Yanks' one-hitter. The only Chicago hit was Billy Goodman's single off Coates in the seventh. Cleveland had 20 hits — 16 off Ike Delock in six innings — but needed Bubba Phillips' ninth-inning homer to beat Boston.

At Miami, rookie Chuck Estrada and lefty Rip Coleman combined for Baltimore's five-hit shutout of Philadelphia. Frank Robinson's two-run homer off Juan Pizarro featured Cincinnati's big first against the Braves.

Smoky Burgess, pinch hitting for winner Roy Face in the ninth, singled to score Don Hoak with Pittsburgh's margin over Kansas City. Julio Becquer's double scored Jim Lemon from first base in the ninth for Washington's squeaker over Detroit.

Larry Sherry, Roger Craig and Danny McDevitt, each working three innings, kept the Giants under reasonable control while the Dodgers clipped Georges Maranda, Joe Shipley and Ray Manzant for 13 hits, including five doubles.

Gene Baker Is Under Contract To Play Again

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — It was a hot Sunday afternoon in July 1958. The scene was Busch Stadium in St. Louis. The Cards were battling the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A St. Louis batter laid down a neat bunt. Pirate third baseman Gene Baker charged the ball. Suddenly he collapsed.

Baker tore the cartilage and muscle matter in his left knee. Doctors said Baker might never play baseball again. Gene thought that way, too.

But today, Gene is under contract with the Pirates again. "At first I thought I'd never play ball again," related Baker. "Heck, before they put my knee back where it should be, I could move the kneecap around like a checkerboard."

Once Baker was back on his feet though, he decided he wanted to play baseball again.

Baker gives a lot of credit for his dramatic comeback to Dr. Jay Bender of Carbondale, Ill. He visited Dr. Bender last January and was given exercises with weights, wires and pulleys to strengthen the knee.

NL Begins Its Long Run For Pennant

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League begins its long run for the pennant, a probable three-way struggle between the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco and Milwaukee, Tuesday while the American League has a week to go on its exhibition treadmill.

Major League baseball tries out its first split opening with Pittsburgh at Milwaukee, (2:30 p. m. EST), Philadelphia at Cincinnati, (2:30 p. m.) St. Louis at San Francisco (4:30 p. m.) and, in a night game, the Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles (11 p. m.).

The American League, with all eight clubs still playing games in Florida that don't count, opens next Monday with the Washington Senators getting their traditional one-day jump on the rest of the league.

The Giants, favored to win the NL pennant after picking up pitching to back their power, also open their new 15-million-dollar ballpark, Candlestick Park. Manager Bill Rigney, his pitching staff padded with the acquisition of left-hander Billy O'Dell and right-handed reliever Billy Loes from Baltimore, picked his ace right-hander, Sam (Avaliable) Jones, to face the Cardinals' Larry Jackson.

Jones had a 21-15 record last year. Jackson was 14-13.

The Dodgers, with Manager Walt Alston picking right-hander Don Drysdale (17-13), will field the same line-up that swept the best-of-three playoff from Milwaukee and then whipped the Chicago White Sox in a six-game World Series. Right-hander Bob Anderson (12-13) will start for the Cubs as Charlie Grimm begins another shot as manager.

It's Warren (The Wonder) Spahn for Milwaukee and new Manager Chuck Dressen against Pittsburgh right-hander Bob Friend. Spahn, 39, is the winning pitcher still at work in the NL and the top all-time winner among left-handers in the league. He'll be after his 26th victory after putting away his fourth straight season of 20 or more (21-15) last year.

Friend, who shared the lead with Spahn for most victories in 1958 (22), then led the National in defeats last season, will be hoping for a better start than last year, when he lost his first seven and finished with an 8-19 record. Cincinnati, opening at Crosley Field as usual, will send either Cal McLish or Jim Brosnan, both right-handers, against the Phillies and right-hander Robin Roberts. McLish, who last pitched in the NL in 1951 for the Cubs, was a 19-8 ace with Cleveland last season. Brosnan was 9-6.

This will be Roberts' 11th consecutive opening day assignment for the Phils. Robin (15-17) has won five, lost four of those inaugurals, missing the decision in the other.

With help from the weatherman, the National League should set an opening day attendance record of 165,000-plus. The Dodgers, still playing in the Coliseum, may draw 50,000. The Giants expect a capacity crowd of 42,549 in their new park. Milwaukee hopes for 43,000 and Cincinnati 31,000.

Roger Ward Speeds To Victory Sunday In Big Car Race

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Roger Ward sped to victory in a 100-mile big-car race Sunday.

Ward, winner of the Indianapolis Speedway Classic, dominated the Trenton speedway event, averaging 95.486 miles per hour.

A blowout spilled Ralph Ligouri, of Tampa, Fla. Ligouri, whose left shoulder was broken, said, "I'm finished with racing. I'm going out and get a job."

Two of the happiest people in the crowd were a gimpy-legged pro from Latrobe, Pa., M. F. (Deacon) Palmer, Arnold's father, and a petite, dark-haired girl from Bethlehem, Pa., whom Arnold married in 1955 and is the mother of his two small daughters.

Arnold Palmer was born in the golf tradition and pointed for greatness by a father who was a greens keeper for 10 years. Deacon Palmer worked to learn the game and became the teaching professional at the Latrobe Country Club, where he has been for 39 years.

He put a set of sticks in Arnold's hands when the lad was three, and had him playing 18 holes at five.

"Arnie had a fine, natural swing," papa Palmer said. "I figured he would make good."

Young Palmer went to school at Wake Forest, served in the Coast Guard, won the National Amateur championship in 1954 and turned pro a few months later. He became an immediate success on the tour.

Arnold Palmer Becomes Golfing Man of the Hour

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Golf's new man of the hour is a rugged young Pennsylvanian with nerves of iron and a marshmallow heart.

Arnold Palmer thrilled a television gallery of millions Sunday by sinking pressure birdie putts on the final two holes for victory in the Masters tournament, then later told the man he beat he was sorry.

"I wanted to win more than anything, Ken," Palmer said to Ken Venturi, "but I'm truly sorry it had to be this way."

This is the picture of the powerful, 29-year-old battler of the fairways who has supplanted aging Ben Hogan and Sam Snead as the dominant personality in the world of golf.

On the course, he is the grim, relentless competitor. Off it, he is like an enthusiastic schoolboy — warm, thoughtful without conceit.

Venturi, a San Francisco youngster still wearing the scars of his famous last-round blowup in 1958, was in the clubhouse with a score of 283 and being interviewed as the apparent winner when Palmer strode to the 17th tee. Palmer needed a birdie on one of the last two holes to tie.

For Palmer, who knew what he must do, this was pressure at its tautest. Few gave him a chance. But he sank a 37-foot putt on the 17th, as the crowd went mad and rolled in another six feet on the 18th for a one-stroke victory. "My God!" exclaimed British Open champion Gary Player of South Africa. "That man must have the innards of a lion."

Two of the happiest people in the crowd were a gimpy-legged pro from Latrobe, Pa., M. F. (Deacon) Palmer, Arnold's father, and a petite, dark-haired girl from Bethlehem, Pa., whom Arnold married in 1955 and is the mother of his two small daughters.

Tigers Drop First Game To Rockhurst

By Mark Shelby

The Smith-Cotton Tigers, playing their first road game of the season, dropped a closely contested game to Rockhurst High of Kansas City by the score of 10 to 7.

Rockhurst grabbed a two run lead in the first inning when Parker drew a base on balls and Aliexsoites followed with a booming homer to center field off Smith-Cotton starter Bob Howard. Smith-Cotton retaliated in the second on the strength of Larry Decker's long home run to left, after Spencer Fricke had been hit by a pitched ball.

Neither team scored in the second, but Rockhurst pushed three runs across in the third on a double, a fielder's choice, a walk and a three-run homer by Trisk. Howard was forced to leave the game in favor of Dale Schwartz, who came on in relief.

The Tigers picked up one run in the fourth when Fricke opened the inning with a triple to right and scored on Decker's single.

Rockhurst increased its lead to three in the fifth, scoring one run without getting a hit. Larry Decker's big bat pulled Smith-Cotton into range in the sixth when he once again homered with Fricke aboard, making the score 6-5 Rockhurst.

In the bottom half of that inning, Rockhurst exploded for four big runs, almost putting the game out of reach. Mike Hannigan replaced Schwartz on the mound for Smith-Cotton and was plagued by two errors and a base on balls. The inning was climaxed by a three-run triple off the bat of Jim Andrew of Rockhurst.

Down by five runs, Smith-Cotton fought back in the seventh. Tim Morgan ignited the rally with a single to center. Charles Wadleigh drew a walk and J. R. Walker followed with a long hit to left. Morgan scored, but Wadleigh, in rounding second base, failed to touch the bag and was called out. Walker also scored, but the force was taken out of Smith-Cotton's attack and the Tigers were unable to muster another threat.

Mingari was the starting and winning pitcher for Rockhurst, although he needed help from Courter in the sixth.

Larry Decker of Smith-Cotton was the game's leading hitter, smashing two homers and a single in four attempts and driving in five runs.

Smith-Cotton opens its conference campaign Tuesday afternoon, April 12, when the Tigers meet the Columbia Kewpies at Columbia.

Thirteen Years Later, Old Film Land Fire Still Rages

'Fired D.A.' Case Still Rumbles On

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Case of the Fired D.A." continued to rumble today as Raymond Burr came out in defense of his courtroom opponent, William Talman.

Burr, TV's Perry Mason, issued this statement to The Associated Press:

"The present situation involving William Talman is one of the most unfortunate I have ever encountered. I feel very strongly that the incident has been magnified all out of proportion. . .

"I am sure that in the final analysis matters will not turn out to be as serious as newspaper stories would indicate and that Mr. Talman will resume his career, achieving the heights that his talent so richly deserves."

Tonight's chapter of the whodunit is called "The Case of the Crying Cherub." Burr as defense attorney Mason faces actor David Lewis as deputy D.A.

Burr apparently will be vanquishing a succession of deputies. Talman, who argued the state's case in the courtroom drama, was dropped as a cast regular after his arrest at a wild party.

CBS found itself with four unreleased shows in which Talman appears. These were shelved for re-runs and newly-made shows without Talman. He will not reappear on "Perry Mason" until May 25.

The case continues its controversy. Talman, faced with lewd, vagrancy charges, declared: "No program, particularly this program, should fire a man merely on an accusation."

Executive Producer Gail Patrick Jackson first said a decision about Talman's job would be forestalled until outcome of his case. But the firing order came from the network. "CBS took the stand," Mrs. Jackson said.

Talman's criminal trial is scheduled for April 25, and his attorney, Arthur Crowley, said the actor "will certainly plead not guilty." The lawyer added that CBS hasn't notified Talman of a dismissal. "And if it does, we will promptly take action; we still have a contract," he said.

As with all actors, Talman's contract has a clause calling for dismissal in case of public censure for immorality. "But you can't fire a man who hasn't been proven guilty," Crowley declared.

Bethany 4-H Member Wins Scholarship

An 18-year-old Bethany 4-H member was named winner of a $50-dollar 4-H scholarship today.

Miss Margaret Youngman, a nine-year 4-H member, received the scholarship for her work in poultry marketing, according to John Burkeholder, state 4-H agent for the Extension Service.

Miss Youngman has carried poultry projects three years, raising and selling broilers. She entered the Junior Chicken of Tomorrow contest one year.

She will use the money to pay expenses at the University of Missouri, where she is a freshman in Home Economics. The scholarship is sponsored by the Red Comb Pioneer Mill, Marshall. She is a member of the Mitchellville 4-H Club. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Youngman, Bethany.

Return Antique Plane To Japanese Museum

TOKYO (AP) — The first airplane ever to fly in Japanese skies landed back in Japan today—on shipping crates.

The antique Farman Voisin biplane, built by Henri Farman of France, was returned to Japan in a gesture of friendliness by the U.S. Air Force, which at the end of World War II took it to the Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, in Ohio.

On Dec. 19, 1910—seven years after the Wright brothers made their famous first flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C.—the Farman rose to 210 feet and stayed aloft for four minutes near what is now central Tokyo.

was aflame with charges and countercharges, shouts of treason and witch-hunting. A host of film personalities trooped to Washington to answer congressional questions about Communist activities in Hollywood. Some answered bluntly, accusing fellow workers of pushing the Soviet cause. Some refused to reply, invoking the Bill of Rights.

Each of the unfriendly 10 went to jail for contempt after refusing to say if he had any Communist affiliation.

In 1960, the drama is being replayed. Angry arguments have again sprung up over whether the movie industry should hire persons who have never answered public questions of whether they had favored the Communist cause.

Bringing the issue to the forefront again were these developments:

1. The hiring of Dalton Trumbo by Otto Preminger to write "Exodus" and by Kirk Douglas to write "Spartacus."

The action was blasted by the American Legion's national commander, who accused the producers of trying "to sell to the American public at the box office the works of artists whom the major studios paid money to get rid of."

Preminger's reply: "Trumbo went to prison for a year and is now a free man. As far as I'm concerned, he has the right to be accepted as a citizen and make a livelihood just like anyone else."

2. The hiring of Nedrick Young by Stanley Kramer to write "By Glorious Brothers." Young had also been employed by Kramer to write "The Defiant Ones" and "Inherit the Wind." He was an unfriendly witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1953.

3. The hiring of Albert Maltz by Frank Sinatra to write "The Execution of Private Slovik." This brought angry comments from veteran anti-Communists John Wayne and Ward Bond. Sinatra answered in trade paper ads: "Under our Bill of Rights, I was taught that no one may prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, religion or other matters of opinion."

But last Friday Sinatra yielded to pressure and criticism and bought off Maltz's contract, removing him from the writing job.

Do these events mean that Hollywood is lowering its barriers to those artists who have never answered to questions of Red leanings?

Officially, no. The Producers' Assn. said there has been no change in the stand the major studios took in 1947. Eric Johnston then stated:

"We will not knowingly employ a Communist or a member of any party or group which advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods."

Next: When the Red scare swept Hollywood.

Remember the unfriendly 10? Here is the latest report of their activities—

Dalton Trumbo—Hired to write "Spartacus," "Exodus" and other big films.

Albert Maltz—Hired by Frank Sinatra to write a script but Sinatra a few days later bought up Maltz' contract and removed him from the job, after public pressures.

Herbert Biberman — In the construction business in Los Angeles. Ring Lardner Jr. — Writing for TV in New York.

Alvah Bessie — Once did public relations for Harry Bridges' union, now writing novels in San Francisco.

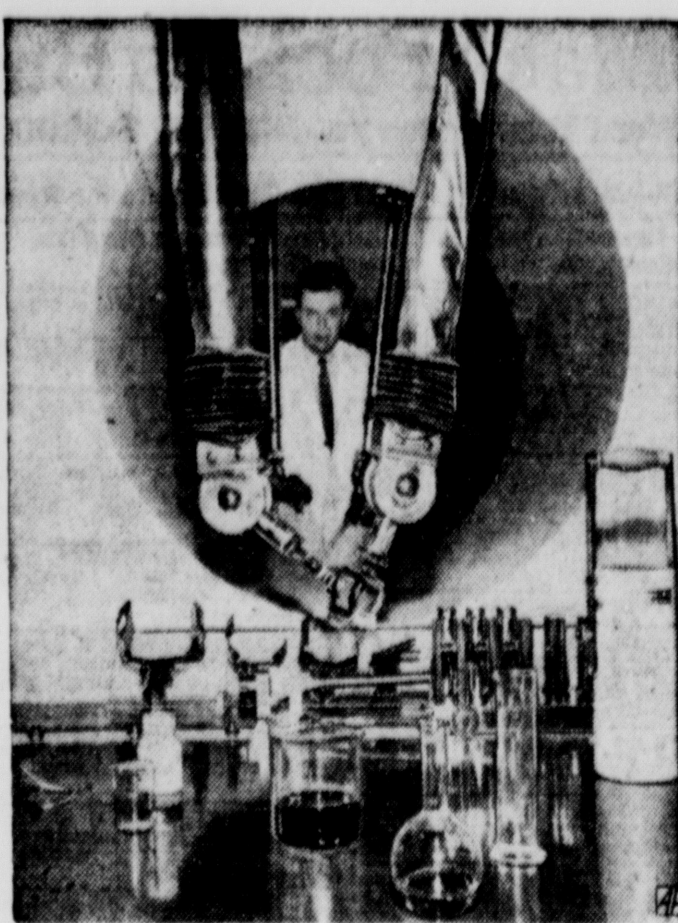

Lester Cole — Writing for films and TV in Hollywood.

Samuel Ornitz — Died of cancer in 1957.

Adrian Scott — Writing for films and TV in Hollywood.

John Howard Lawson — Living in Los Angeles.

Animal Lovers Up in Arms Over Bullfighting in US

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Animal lovers are up in arms over moves to make bullfighting a U. S. sport. They point out that in Spain, the home of this bloody art form, soccer is more popular now among the Spaniards than bullfighting.

Homes in the sky: A single giant redwood tree contains enough lumber to build 15 houses.

Don't fret too much if you have insomnia. Just lie still and relax. Doctors believe simple bed rest, even though you're awake, can give up to 80 per cent or more of the benefits of regular sleep.

The low men on America's economic totem pole are its one million migrant workers. They earn an average of less than $900 each a year.

Don't let your mind alone. Take good care of it. In the United States there is only one psychiatrist for every 16,400 persons and yet one out of 10 of us is said to suffer from a mental or emotional disturbance requiring treatment.

The power of prayer: Thomas Jefferson in his last years always ended his prayers with the hope that he might live "until the next Independence Day." His prayers were answered. He died on July 4, 1826, the same day that saw the death of John Adams.

Engineers believe that in another three years wall TV screens three feet wide and four feet high will be practicable in your living room.

Men and women sometimes dress and talk so much alike today that it is difficult to tell them apart. But here's a helpful tip when in doubt: Men generally strike matches toward themselves, women away from themselves. At the next cocktail party you attend, check and see if this isn't so.

We all try to get ahead in the world, but most of us never learn how. In 1887 Mark Twain wryly remarked: "All you need in this life is ignorance and confidence, and then success is sure."

Our crowded homeland: America now has 15 acres per person, but by 1975—we are growing so fast—the figure will be down to eight acres.

Odd laws: In an Oklahoma town it once was illegal for a young lady to sit in a man's lap without a cushion under her.

Prankster Decorates Carnegie's Statue

DUNFERMLINE, Scotland (AP) — A prankster with a paint brush early today brightened up a statue of Andrew Carnegie, the local boy who made good in the U.S. steel industry. Carnegie's coat was painted green, his vest a bright yellow, and his trousers were given pink stripes. The bronze statue was erected in 1914 by the people of Dunfermline, Carnegie's home town.

DO YOU HAVE ARTHRITIS?

Here is a message you will want to read.

Your doctor can tell you there is absolutely NO KNOWN CURE for arthritis. Medical research specialists are now engaged in several projects which, it is felt, will ultimately help in finding a cure, but as yet none has been found. Naturally, we all live in hope they will be successful, but until that time we must be content to get the best relief possible. Right now there is a fast, safe and effective relieving agent available called Pruvo. Pruvo's ingredients have been used in hospitals and clinics, prescribed by doctors, and have helped scores of men and women to lead happy and full lives. You can be sure nothing is faster, safer or has been proven more effective than Pruvo for a temporary easing of a minor arthritic condition or its related diseases . . . rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago and bursitis. And it's wonderful for backache and every-day muscular aches and pains, too. Try Pruvo today. Ask your druggist for a generous 75-tablet TRIAL-SIZE BOTTLE. You must be satisfied with the results or your purchase price will be refunded by the maker. There are larger, economy sizes also, for continued use.

Amid Wisconsin Echoes

Demos Open Another Round, This Time in West Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the echoes of the Wisconsin primary still sounding, the Democrats have opened another round of politicking, this time in West Virginia.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota arrived in West Virginia Friday and began a grueling bus tour that took him 16 stops during the day.

At the same time, former Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., (D-NY) flew into the state to campaign for Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Kennedy joins the speechmaking and handshaking Monday.

Humphrey and Kennedy are the only candidates in the state's Democratic presidential primary May 10. The two senators met in the Wisconsin primary last Tuesday. Kennedy won that one by more than 100,000 votes.

Humphrey made most of his stops in the state's southern coal mining counties, areas plagued by unemployment, closed mines, and ghost towns.

"I think it is scandalous," Humphrey said in a speech from the courthouse steps in Fayetteville. "that this administration can turn its back on unemployment in West Virginia."

"There isn't one thing being done by this administration to alleviate human suffering," he continued.

Kennedy addressed a rally Friday on the Notre Dame University campus in South Bend, Ind., outlining the five basic problems which he said confront America: automation, competition from totalitarian governments, the technological revolution on the farm, nuclear warfare, and underdeveloped nations.

Solutions will require youth and vigor in government, the 42-year-old Kennedy said.

The West Virginia primary is expected to affect Kennedy's fortunes in at least two ways:

1. A victory might attract much of California's 81-vote delegation to him after it has voted for Gov. Edmund Brown as a favorite son on the first ballot.

"If he wins in West Virginia," Brown told a news conference in Sacramento, Calif., Friday, "I certainly would regard that as a strong indication that Kennedy has wide appeal throughout the country."

2. It might give a clear indication of the effect of Kennedy's religion in a heavily Protestant state. The senator, a Roman Catholic, will be tested in a state where less than 5 per cent of the population is Catholic.

Vice President Nixon touched an aspect of the possible religious issue Friday night when he addressed a convention of the Associated Church Press in Washington. He said that the United States should make birth control information available to underdeveloped countries that ask for it.

A birth control controversy flared in late 1959 after the Catholic bishops of the United States announced their opposition to use of public funds for promotion of birth control in foreign countries.

Nixon's views differed from those of President Eisenhower, who has opposed the supply of information even when requested. In essence, Nixon's views came close to those of the Democratic candidates, including Kennedy.

Two Missouri Spiders Cause Serious Injury

In spite of folklore and superstition there are only two kinds of spiders in Missouri capable of causing serious injury or death to man. According to Curtis W. Wingo, University of Missouri entomologist, they are the Black Widow and the Brown Recluse spiders.

In a new bulletin, Wingo writes that nearly all spiders produce poison, but are not capable of biting man.

The Black Widow is easily recognized by the jet black body with the red hour-glass mark on the underside of the abdomen. Wingo says. They are most often found in trash, rubble piles, and littered areas.

The venom of a Black Widow is 15 times as toxic as the venom of a prairie rattlesnake. However, the spider can inject only a minute amount of the poison in a single bite. Fewer than one per cent of those bitten by Black Widows die, says Wingo.

The Brown Recluse spider varies in color from light fawn to an almost chocolate brown. The body is covered with dense, short hair. A broad dark fiddle-shaped band extends from the eyes almost to the abdomen.

Poison from the Brown Recluse causes a killing of tissue around the bite. The skin becomes congested and swollen. A sunken scar usually results.

The bulletin contains full color pictures of the spiders.

Stock Market Responds

New Car Sales Spurt Puts Bounce Back Into Business

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A spurt in new car sales put some bounce back into business this week.

The stock market responded with a rally and industry as a whole felt a lot better about the outlook for the rest of the year. Auto sales lagged under expectations through January, February and most of March.

Car makers' announcement of sales figures in the last 10 days of March confirmed a spring buying surge was under way. The gain over last year was 29 per cent. And Dun & Bradstreet reported sales for the week ended Wednesday were higher than the previous week.

For the entire month of March sales totaled 576,000 cars, up 13 per cent from a year ago. First quarter sales were 1,514,611, a gain of 200,000 over last year.

This caused Robert J. Eggert, marketing research manager for Ford Motor Co., to increase his estimate of 1960 sales by 100,000 to 6,700,000, including 500,000 imported cars. When optimism was rampant in December he forecast 6,800,000.

Despite the sales rise, dealers still had record inventories and the industry cut production this week to an estimated 133,000 cars, the lowest level of the year. A couple of small strikes contributed to the decline.

The stock market rang up gains on the first four days of the week, mostly on news about car buying, and then edged off on profit taking and less happy developments such as the auto production decline and drops in steel output and freight car loadings.

Some Wall Street experts maintained a spring rally was under way.

Stock sales this week were 14,638,070 shares compared with 12,207,550 the previous week and 15,626,110 a year ago.

Retail trade continued the pick-up that has been in evidence since the weather warmed up.

On the steel front, the industry moved into what was called its time of decision. The trade magazine Iron Age said unless the current rate of steel orders is reversed by new demands the industry will have to lower production estimates for the year.

Production this week was an estimated 85.9 per cent of capacity, or 2,447,000 tons, down from last week's 88.7 per cent and 2,527,000 tons.

There was encouragement in announcements of major construction activity. For example, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. will spend 225 million dollars on capital improvements in Los Angeles County in 1960 and 1961.

Housing credit showed signs of easing. The Federal National Mortgage Assn. reported offerings of existing government-backed home mortgages for resale in March declined to 10,431 from 10,541 in February and 11,503 in March. It predicted the drop would continue.

The Treasury ran into disinterest on the part of the public in its offering of new 25-year 4½ per cent bonds. The Treasury said it was willing to sell up to 1½ billion dollars of the bonds. It received offers for only 370 million dollars worth.

Briefly around the business scene: Montgomery Ward & Co. reduced prices an average of 8.2 per cent on 20,000 items in its summer catalog. . . . Bad weather last month reduced movie attendance 15 per cent under March 1959. . . . U.S. Steel is trying to get people to switch to king size beds to increase sales of spring and mattress wire. . . . Conrad Hilton plans to build seven hotels in Australia and New Zealand. . . . Republic Pictures Corp. put its common stock on a quarterly dividend basis for the first time in its 33-year history. . . . The Federal Trade Commission is going to investigate the impact of chain store business practices on independent grocers and suppliers.

MoPac Women's Meet Features Centennial

The Spirit of Sedalia's coming Centennial celebration prevailed at the regular meeting of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club held at the Little Theatre at 8 p.m. on April 3.

A. W. Haller, speaker of the evening, gave an interesting talk on the highlights of the Centennial and displayed a number of the souvenir items for the Centennial. He was introduced by Mrs. James Farley, entertainment chairman.

Mrs. Frank Rouchka, president, and a number of the members of the club were in attire of that era. Invocation, in keeping with Easter, was given by Mrs. O. A. Grishkat, chaplain.

Mrs. Della Gasperson, a guest, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Herbert Shepherd, delighted the audience with two solos, "A Bird in a Gilded Cage" and "In the Gloaming." The Missouri Pacific Women's Choral Club, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, sang one number.

Mrs. Will Anderson, program chairman, led the group in games.

Mrs. Roy Duncan, hostess, and her committee served refreshments from a table covered with an old-fashioned red checked cloth, featuring a kerosene lamp, old china and a compote filled with artificial fruit.

Officers Say Youth Is Accidentally Shot

FULTON, Mo., (AP) — Police now say Jim Adkisson, 18, Tulsa, Okla., freshman at Westminster College, apparently was accidentally wounded by a bullet fired by one of his five target-shooting companions.

Officers first were told that Adkisson was hit in the neck by a bullet from his own .22 caliber rifle as he was running to catch up with his companions at a nearby strip mine pit.

Police chief Woodrow W. Lewis said Saturday ballistic tests showed the bullet came from a rifle owned by Alan Fahrenkrog, 19, of Ladue, Mo., also a freshman at the college.

Lewis quoted Fahrenkrog as saying he had fired eight or 10 times at a flock of birds and one of the bullets might have struck Adkisson who was 100 to 150 yards away on slightly higher ground.

The police chief said the other four youths admitted playing a sniper game by firing over each other's head or into the ground.

Chamber Board Favors Passage Of School Issue

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce board of directors passed a resolution at its last meeting, Tuesday, April 5, going on record as favoring the passage of the school bond improvement issue scheduled for the vote of the citizens of Sedalia on May 3.

Since the Sedalia board of education has cited the need for certain capital improvements to existing school buildings and the addition of a new school in west Sedalia to adequately care for the immediate and future educational needs of the community, the Chamber board feels that the expansion of the school system appears immediately necessary to care for such needs brought about by the crowded conditions and complete lack of facilities in several instances.

The resolution also states that the Chamber board recognizes that a sound and adequate school system is a necessary basic element for community growth and the existence of an adequate school system is a specific requirement for development of both existing and new industry. The improvements of the Sedalia school system relates directly to the level of education possible for all the young people of the community.

All citizens are urged in the Chamber board's resolution to acquaint themselves with the facts to realize the need for an adequate school system as such relates directly to the basic community growth and future prosperity of each person in the city.

Second of Its Kind

'Follow the Star' Meeting Held at Chilhowee April 4

The second of the "Follow the Star" meetings of the Order of the Eastern Star, was held at Chilhowee, on Monday evening, April 4, with a good attendance from the chapters in the district.

Mrs. Velma Davis, worthy matron, and William Sigrist, acting as pro-tem officer for the worthy patron, J. Edgar Davis, presided in the East. Distinguished members of the Order were introduced as follows: Mrs. Viola Coffman, past grand matron, Sedalia; John Owen, past grand patron, Warsaw; Mrs. Lucile White, grand Electa, Sedalia and Mrs. Laura Lange, district deputy grand matron of the 36th District from Sedalia; Mrs. Hazel Adams, grand representative to South Dakota, from Chilhowee and Mrs. Gladys Simpson, grand representative to Scotland from Holden.

The worthy matron and worthy patron extended special greetings and heartily welcomed all guests.

Mrs. Erma Priest, worthy matron and the officers of Warrensburg Chapter No. 3, presented the traveling star to Chilhowee Chapter in a very impressive ceremony. They entered the chapter room each carrying identical lighted miniature lamps with chimney. As the other lights were dimmed, the members listened to the "Story of the Star" in story and song. Mrs. Gladys Brown, associate matron of Warrensburg Chapter, was the narrator of the story entitled "The Builder." The other officers formed a choir and at intervals sang songs which illustrated the meaning of the story.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the officers presented each Chilhowee officer with the miniature lamp, as Mrs. Priest presented Mrs. Davis with the traveling star.

The star will go on its journey as Chilhowee Chapter visits Holden Chapter on April 25.

The East was beautifully decorated for this special occasion. On a beautiful backdrop of dogwood extending across the curtain at the top. Also, on the backdrop artistically shaped letters in blue spelled out the watch words of the year chosen by the worthy grand matron: "Faith, Humility, Love." In the background was a cross of red entwined with dogwood, all making the East a setting of beauty.

Each Star point chair had at the back a very natural looking dogwood tree.

The distinguished guest gave talks in keeping with Easter. They also expressed appreciation for friends and for the hospitality of Chilhowee Chapter.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The centerpiece on the table was a novel and attractive decoration as were the favors for each one present.

Solves Cycle Problem

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio said today a Red Chinese telephone maintenance man has solved the problem of pedaling a bicycle against a strong wind. Yang Hsiu-feng attached a small rotary fan to the handlebars and linked it by chain to the axle, the broadcast explained. The stronger the wind blows, the faster Yang's bike goes. The radio said he can average 11 m.p.h. in the teeth of a gale.

Film Work Begins

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Work resumes today on four of the eight motion pictures interrupted by the Screen Actors Guild strike, which was settled Friday.

BARRETT AVENUE...
BUILT OF CONCRETE IN 1925!

35 YEARS SERVICE...

This section of Barrett Avenue, between Ninth and Broadway, was built in 1925... 35 years ago... and it is still one of Sedalia's finest streets. Durable concrete curbs, gutters and pavement have withstood the test of time. Long use has failed to produce gaping holes and annoying ripples, street conditions which are damaging to vehicles and irritating to drivers.

MINIMUM MAINTENANCE...

Take a ride on Barrett Avenue. You'll see there has been practically no need for maintenance in its 35 years of constant use. Sedalia taxpayers have saved money in maintenance bills. Imagine savings to Sedalia taxpayers if all streets were concrete.
